

Farfel's Farm

Carrying everything from Roadies – seat belts for dogs – to breed-specific cooking hot pads – Hot Paws – Farfel's Farm is Boulder's new ultimate pet lovers paradise.

"Our passion is to promote love and understanding between people and animals through art, memories, play and nutrition," said Sandy Calvin, co-owner of Farfel's Farm.

Before the store's opening in April, Calvin and her business partner, Jeff Richey, both had careers in photography, and brought this passion with them to Farfel's Farm by setting up an on-site pet photo studio in the back of the store. The two also created a DOG-umentary, a custom-made video about pets, their owners and their stories.

For pet lovers who prefer the fine-dining option for their furry friends over the holidays, Farfel's Farm also stocks premium Castor and Pollux certified organic dog and cat food.

– 906 Pearl St. (303) 443-7711

PAUL AIKEN / Daily Camera

Lily models a winter coat by Gooby and sits in a dog bed by Bowser from Farfel's Farm.